VICTIM OF FATAL ACCIDENT

John Jences of North Chicago Shot and Instantly Killed by Peter Petkewic

MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict of Accidental Death From Revolver Shot and Finds Petkewic Not Guilty

Saturday night, just after 12, Peter Petkewic of Thirteenth and Prescott street, North Chicago, shot and instantly killed John Jences of 1333 South Park avenue, Waukegan, in the belief that he was a burglar prowling about his residence for no good purpose.

The slayer was at once arrested and lodged in the North Chicago village jail, where he at once confessed the shooting to Chief Breen. "Jences was prowling about the house," he said. "I ordered him away and when he did not go I shot him."

The identity of Jences became known Sunday morning when friends identified him.

A bullet through the heart killed Jences. The dead man is unmarried as far as is known in this country. He has been in Waukegan two years and was employed at the Corn Products Refining company. Petkewic is a married man.

The remains of the dead man were removed to the Larsen & Conrad morgue where the inquest took place Sunday.

Peter Petkewic, held by the North Chicago police on a charge of murder, was found not guilty as far as a coroner's jury could define, as it was proven beyond all reasonable doubt that Petkewic had committed the act, not to take the life of another, but merely to frighten off two men whom he took to be prowlers of the night or burglars.

The jury found the man not guilty and gave out a verdict which designated Jences as having died by a bullet wound of a .22 caliber revolver which was held by Peter Petkewic, who accidentally hit an unknown object, namely, Jences.

Wary of sleep and with the tears trickling down his cheeks, Petkewic was placed on the stand at the opening of the hearing at the command of Coroner Taylor.

"I did not shoot to kill anyone," were the words of the man.

After two foreigners had been secured to act as interpreters, it was learned that Petkewic had just started to take off his shoes preparatory to retiring when he heard a knock at the rear door. He called out and asked what was wanted.

"What do you want," he asked again, and then someone shouted, "Nothing." "Well, get out," was Petkewic's answer. The culprits at the rear door who were disturbing the slumbers of his family, continued to knock on the door and Petkewic fired through the kitchen and shed doors.

"I did not know that there was anybody standing at the front of the door neither did I know that I had hit any one with the bullet until the officer from North Chicago arrived at my home after I had gone to bed and arrested me," stated Petkewic.

The solemnness of Petkewic's tones as he told his story of killing a friend worked on the jury. Prior to their rendering a verdict, their faces plainly showed that they intended to allow him his freedom.

Petkewic's brother and two brothers were called upon to tell what they knew of the shooting. All told the same story as

VICTIM OF LOCKJAW DIED

Little Boy Injured On the Fourth Succumbs To Lockjaw In Violent Convulsion

After suffering pain from Friday morning until after midnight Friday Harvey Pearson of 1312 McAllister avenue Waukegan, aged nine years, died from lockjaw, due to injuries sustained on the Fourth of July as the result of a toy pistol exploding in his hand.

The boy's end was most pitiful for he was in terrible pain all day, although the doctors worked hard over him in an effort to save his life. It was the first case of the kind in Waukegan in years and the pitiable condition of the little fellow caused the doctors to work the harder to save him and to prevent the pain which always accompanies lockjaw.

The work of the poison was such that the little fellow's jaws became firmly locked Friday and everything was done for him but to no avail. The jaws remained firmly locked together and nurse had to force food into his throat as best they could.

It is the first case of the kind to be seen here and because of the boy's age it was the more pitiful and appealed to the sympathies of the attendants.

This is the first victim of the Fourth of July celebration that Waukegan has contributed in many years.

WILL BE HELP TO WAUKEGAN IN THE END

"Mark my word," said Theo. Durst of Waukegan. "That West Side electric road will be sold before long and a trunk line will get hold of it. It will be one of the best things that could happen to Waukegan to have this done.

WILLIAM F. WEISS
Republican Candidate for State's Attorney

"In short, this step which will bring about the forced sale of the road is to be a benefit to this city in the long run."

A trunk line is sure to bid in the road and then there will open many factory sites, a thing most needed now."

Mr. Durst seemed to feel that the sale of the road would bring a new trunk line into the city beyond any question of doubt, because the road will be brought so cheap that it will be a golden opportunity.

The feeling is that the Wisconsin Central has its eyes on the line and that is the road which will bid it in when the times come.

On the other hand, there are those who believe that the Central worked this whole West Side deal, anticipating just this financial trouble which has come on, their whole scheme being to bring about this very condition and then step in and bid in the road for much less than it is worth and then it cost even thought unsuspecting persons who made purchases of bonds would lose thereby. Others scout such a suggestion and declare the trunk line which may now get the road had nothing to do with its original construction, that it was purely Frost and nobody else

NO STAIRS AND NO WINDOWS

Queer features of the new fair buildings for which Architect Worsfold has this week completed plans are that there is not a pane of glass and not a stair case in the entire two structures.

In the first place the buildings are one story in height, thus obviating the need of stairs and in the second place in view of the fact that the glass is broken out annually by small boys, the fair management decided to have wooden shutters in its new buildings instead of glass. The shutters lift and provide for perfect ventilation.

IT LOOKS LIKE OLSON

Lake county has had the State Senatorship for the last four years. Hon. Dufay Fuller of Boone County held it for four years prior to it coming to Lake County. It is eight years since McHenry County had the State Senatorship from this district and there is good argument in the claim made by the Republicans of McHenry County that their county is this time entitled to the State Senatorship.

Hon. A. J. Olson of Woodstock, is making the most thorough canvass ever made by any candidate in the Eighth Senatorial District and he and his friends claim that Mr. Olson is at this time far in the lead in the race for State Senator, and it is certain that no other candidate can at this late date make the thorough canvass of the district that Mr. Olson has made.

Olson buttons are being worn from the shores of Lake Michigan to the western limits of Boone County, and every wearer of an Olson button is an Olson huster.

The Barrington Review of July 10th, in speaking of Mr. Olson and his candidacy, said:

Hon. A. J. Olson of Woodstock, has been making a thorough canvass of Lake county in the interests of his candidacy for State Senator from this district. He has an extensive acquaintance throughout Lake county, and his friends in all parts of the county are working earnestly in his behalf. He is a likable, agreeable gentleman, and is certainly a vote getter.

He has served two terms in the Lower House at Springfield from Cook county, and was also a member of the City Council of Chicago for four years, and is now a member of the City Council of Woodstock, where he resides.

For over twenty years he bought large quantities of milk from the farmers throughout the counties of Lake, Boone and McHenry, and his honesty and integrity is vouched for by everyone with whom he has ever done business, and if reports are true he will receive an overwhelming majority in McHenry county and also a large vote in Boone county.

Mr. Olson is still engaged in the milk and cream business as he owns a large creamery at Woodstock that supplies the Great Northern and Auditorium hotels of Chicago with milk and cream. If nominated and elected, Mr. Olson pledges himself to properly look after and protect the interests of the farmers and dairymen of this district in regard to any legislative act during the next four years that may affect the interests of the farmers and dairymen.

Reports from various parts of Lake county indicate that Mr. Olson will receive a large vote in Lake county and the Republicans of Lake county can rest assured that if nominated and elected, Mr. Olson will prove loyal to his friends, true to the Republican party, and that the interests of the people of the Eighth Senatorial district will be properly looked after during the next four years.

According to custom, McHenry county is this time entitled to the State Senator and from present indications it will be Honorable A. J. Olson of Woodstock.

LITTLE CHILD DROWNED IN CISTERN

Playing about a cistern at Fremont recently, little Oscar Laver crawled upon the rotten top only to have it give way beneath him and precipitate him into the cistern waters below.

It was an hour before his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Laver, missed him and when he was found he was dead, the body being seen from the cistern top by the frantic father and mother.

Coroner Taylor presided at an inquest, the verdict of which was accidental death by drowning.

TWO BITTEN BY MAD DOG

The West Side in Waukegan is Scene of Mad Dog Panic

Driven mad by the heat, with dripping jaws and eager teeth, a mad dog wreaked havoc on the west side, Waukegan, just after the dinner hour Sunday, the train of panic beginning at Grand avenue near the street car tracks and extending in the space of a few moments clear over to May street.

The victims reported are:

Willie Anderson, bitten severely about the forearm. Wound cauterized and treated by Dr. J. C. Foley.

Bernard Drew, arm torn. Wound cauterized and treated by Dr. J. C. Foley.

GEORGE EDMUND FOSS
Republican Candidate for United States Senator and for Congressman of the 10th Congressional District

Anthony Kelly was the first to realize the seriousness of what had befallen the first victim. The dog is a small beagle which is a friend of the neighboring children. He knew that the dog was so good natured that if it had bitten anyone it was because of madness and he gave the alarm at once.

Snapping and snarling the dog ran along the streets, biting the Drew child after it had laid low its first victim.

An automobile took up the chase and the last seen of the dog was on May street. Here Dr. Foley and Assistant Chief Hicks found it.

The dog was later shot by Assistant Chief Hicks on May street. Its head was removed and taken to the Pasteur Institute at Chicago for an examination for rabies. Meantime the two children bitten were watched with care.

Chief Tyrrell Monday morning shot a dog alleged to be mad. The dog started a panic on Laurel avenue by biting a small child. The wound was treated but the dog's head was not kept.

DIES SUDDENLY AT THE HOME OF HIS SON

N. G. Parks, aged 64 years, of the village of Trevor, died suddenly at the home of his son, Henry Parks, on Rice avenue, just before eight o'clock Wednesday evening. Mr. Parks came to Kenosha last week for a visit with his son and had been in his usual health up to a few minutes before his sudden death. He ate a hearty supper and sat down in the sitting room while his son went out in the yard to do some work about the house. He was called in to find his father dying. The father was leaning against a chair, and turning to his son, said, "I have such a pain here," indicating the region of his heart. Dr. Jorgensen was immediately called, but before he arrived the father died. The remains were removed to the Hansen morgue, where a post mortem was held by Dr. Jorgensen and the cause of death was given acute stomach trouble, complicated with heart disease.

He deceased was a veteran of the civil war and had been a resident of Kenosha county for many years. He is survived by a widow and three sons.

The remains were taken to his late home in Trevor, where the funeral services were held.

SEEK DARING FORGER

Police of Libertyville and Wauconda in Chase After Man Who Fleeced Merchants

PASSED CHECKS FOR COIN

Secures $30 Suit of Clothes from Wauconda Merchant by Misrepresentation and False Statements

A smooth individual with a facile pen came to Libertyville recently. He secured a blank check at the Lovell Drug store on the First National bank and filled it in for the sum of $12. Drawn to A. B. Wilson by G. M. Harvey, he indorsed it on the back A. B. Wilson. He secured $3 in cash on it at the Libertyville hotel from the proprietor, W. F. Kasson, who was suspicious of the paper and shortly after took it to the bank where he found that it was no good. The bird had flown.

It later developed that he had also worked successfully in Wauconda and there secured a $30 suit of clothes at the Maiman store. He represented that he had secured a position in the retail department of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., and expected to go to work there soon.

His hard luck story was made very plausible and as he had been in Wauconda about two years ago and was slightly acquainted, he secured the clothes.

Herman Maiman brought him to Libertyville where he said he was to meet a friend, and after loafing about the town that day he finally made a lucky strike and afterward disappeared.

In Wauconda he gave the name of C. B. Hanson and his address as 325 Michigan avenue, Chicago. He was about five feet, eleven inches in height, light moustache and wore a light suit and straw hat. The bank has given his description to the State Bankers' Association and it is very probable that if he has been working the game extensively he will be caught.

The forger who operated through that locality and along the north shore last winter was captured at Mendota in February and has since been sent over the road. He passed worthless checks on Wm. Nebelich at Rockford and Fred Enderlin of Libertyville. He gave the name of Fred Byrne. He also passed checks on Waukegan, Zion City, North Chicago, Lake Forest and Highland Park merchants.

ZOBAK CLUB TO HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

The Zobak club will hold their third annual picnic at their club grounds at Catherine Lake on Sunday July 26.

Every one is cordially invited to attend and may be assured of having a first class time. Although this is only the third picnic given by this club, the fame of the two previous events has traveled far and beyond doubt the attendance this year will far exceed that of the past.

Amusements of various kinds have been provided and good speakers have been secured, among whom are, Hon. E. D. Shurtliff, Hon. Dennis E. Gibbons and Lura E. Mentch.

Special trains will leave Chicago at 7:30 o'clock sharp and stop at Halsted and Archer Ave., also at Thirtieth and Kedzie Ave., after which no more stops will be made until the club grounds are reached.

A large crowd from Chicago will attend as well as many from the surrounding county.

SYNOPSIS.

The crowning desire in the life of old Baumgartner, a Pennsylvania German, is to obtain possession of the beautiful meadow which lies just between Baumgartner's property and the railroad station. The property in question was inherited by Sarah Pressel, very pretty and athletic young girl, and belonged solely to her. But old Baumgartner had lusted for it so many years and endeavored to purchase it from Sarah's father so many times that the property became known as "Baumgartner's yearn." At the village gatherings on the porch of the store old Baumgartner always declared that the property would some day be his. At length Baumgartner came to realize that his only hope of obtaining the property would be through the marriage of his son Sephenjah to Sarah Pressel. In a mock auction "Seffy," as Sephenjah P. Baumgartner, Jr., is popularly known, is raffled off by his father to Sarah for $1.

CHAPTER I.—Continued.

In short, by the magic of brilliant color and natural grace she narrowly escaped being extremely handsome—in the way of a sun-burned peach, or a maiden's-blush apple. And even if you should think she was not handsome, you would admit that there was an indescribable rustic charm about her. She was like the aroma of the hay-fields, or the woods, or a field of daisies, or dandelions.

The girl, laughing, surrendered the money, and the old man, taking an arm of each, marched them peremptorily away.

"Come to the house and get his clothes. Efersing goes in—stolepise hat, butterfly necktie, diamond pin, tooth-brush, hair-oil, razor and soap." They had got far enough around the corner to be out of sight of the store during this gaff, and the old man shoved Seffy and the girl in front of him, linked their arms, and retreated to the rear.

"What Sephenjah P. Baumgartner, Senior, hath I'ined together, let nobody put atthunder, heghoshens!" he announced.

The proceeding appeared to be painful to Seffy, but not to Sally. She frankly accepted the situation and promptly put into action its opportunities for coquetry. She begged him, first, with consummate aplomb, to aid her in adjusting her parcels more securely, insisting upon carrying them herself, and it would be impossible to describe adequately her allurements. The electrical touches, half-caress, half-defiance; the confidential whispings, so that the wily old man in the rear might not hear; the surges up against him; the recoveries—only to surge again—these would require a mechanical contrivance which reports not only speech but action—and even this might easily fail, so subtle was it all! "Seff—Seffy, I thought it was his old watch he was auctioning off. I wanted it for—for a nest-egg! Ah-ha-ha! You must excuse me."

"You wouldn't 'a' bid at all if you'd knowed it was me, I reckon," said Seffy.

"Yes, I would," declared the coquette. "I'd rather have you than any nest-egg in the whole world—any two of 'em!"—and when he did not take his chance—"If they were made of gold!"

But then she spoiled it. "It's worse fellows than you, Seffy." The touch of coquetry was but too apparent.

"And better," said Seffy, with a lump in his throat. "I know I ain't no good with girls—and I don't care!"

"Yes!" she assented wickedly. "There are better ones."

"Sam Fritz!"

Sally looked away, smiled, and was silent.

"Sally Seffy!" she finally said.

"If he does atink of salt mackerel, and most always drunk!" Seffy went on bitterly. "He's nothing but a molasses-tupper!"

Sally began to drift farther away and to slog. Calling Fritz names was of no consequence—except it kept Seffy from making love to her while he was doing it—which seemed foolish to Sally. The old man came up and brought them together again.

"Oach! go 'long and make love some more. I like to see it. I expect I am an old fool, but I like to see it—it's like of times—yes, and if you don't look out there, Seffy, I'll take a band myself—yassir! go 'long!"

He drew them very close together, each looking the other way. Indeed he held them there for a moment, roughly.

Seffy stole a glance at Sally. He wanted to see how she was taking his father's obviously intimate suggestion. But it happened that Sally wanted to see how he was taking it. She laughed with the frankest of joy as their eyes met.

"Seffy—I do like you," said the coquette. "And you ought to know it. You limp!"

"Seff—I don't believe you. Or you wouldn't waste your time so—about Sam Fritz!"

"Er—Sally—where you going to tonight?" Seffy meant to prove himself.

And Sally answered, with a little fright at the sudden aggressiveness she had perceived.

"Nowhere that I know of."

"Well—may I set up with you?"

The pea-green sunbonnet could not conceal the amazement and then the radiance which shot into Sally's face.

"Set—up—with—me!"

"Yes!" said Seffy, almost savagely. "That's what I said."

"Oh, I—I guess so! Yes! of course!" she answered variously, and rushed off home.

"You know I own you," she laughed back, as if she had not been sufficiently explicit. "I paid for you! Your pappy's got the money! I'll expect my property to-night."

"Yes!" shouted the happy old man, "and heghoshens! It's a reg'lar bargain! Ain't it, Seffy? You her property—real estate, hereditaments and teneaments." And even Seffy was drawn into the joyous laughing conceit of it! Had he not just done the bravest thing of his small life?

"Yes!" he cried after the fascinating Sally. "For sure and certain, to-night."

"It's a bargain!" she cried.

"For better or worse, richer or poorer, up an' down, in a' out, chassiez right and left! Ah-ha-ha! Ah-ha-ha! But, Seffy,—and the happy father turned to the happy son and hugged him, "don't you ever forget that she's a feather-head and got a bright red temper like her daddy! And they both work mighty bad together sometimes. When you get her at the right place onct—well, well her down—hand and feet—so's she can't git away. When she gits mad her little braia evaporates, and if she had a knife she'd go round stabbing her best friends—that's the only sing that saves her—yes, and us!—no knife. If she had a knife it would be funerals following her all the time."

II.

What Have Feelings Got to Do With Cow-Pasture?

They advanced together now, Seffy's father whistling some tune that was never heard before on earth, and with his arm in that of his son, they watched Sally bounding away. Once more, as she leaped a fence, she looked laughingly back. The old man whistled wildly out of tune. Seffy waved a hand.

"Now you shoutlag, Seffy! Shout ag'in!"

"I didn't say a word!"

"Well—it ain't too late! Go on!"

Now Seffy understood and laughed with his father.

"Neca gal, Seff—Seffy!"

"Yes!" admitted Seffy with reserve.

"Healthy?"

Seffy agreed to this, also.

"No doctor bills!" his father amplified.

Seffy said nothing.

"Entire orphan."

"She's got a granny!"

"Yes," chuckled the old man at the way his son was drifting into the situation—thinking about granny!—"but Sally owns the farm!"

"Uhm!" said Seffy, whatever that might mean.

"And Sally's the boss!"

Silence.

"And granny won't object to any one Sally marries, anyhow—she dassen't! She'd git licked!"

"Who said anything about marry-lag?"

Seffy was speciously savage now—as any successful wooer might be.

"Nobody but me, sank you!" said the old man with equally specious meekness. "Look how she ken jump a six-rail fence. Like a three-year filly! She's a nice gal, Seffy,—and the farms I'ine together—her pasture-field and our corn-field. And she's kissing her head backwards! At me or you, Seffy?"

Seffy said he didn't know. And he did not return the kiss—though he yearned to.

"Well, I bet a dollar that the first initial of his last name is Sephenjah P. Baumgartner, Junior."

"Well!" said Seffy with a great flourish, "I'm going to set up with her to-night."

terminated face. For it must be explained that the stovepipe hat, in that day and that country, was dedicated only to the most momentous social occasions and that, consequently, gentlemen wore it to go courting.

"Yes!" declared Seffy again.

"Bring forth stovepipe."

The stovepipe, the stovepipe—chanted Seffy's frivolous father in the way of the Anvil Chorus.

"And my butterfly necktie with—"

"Wiss the diamond on?" whispered his father.

They laughed in confidence of their secret. Seffy, the successful wooer, was thawing out again. The diamond was not a diamond at all—the He brew who sold it to Seffy had confessed as much. But he also swore that if it were kept in perfect polish no one but a diamond merchant could tell the difference. Therefore, there being no diamond merchant anywhere near, and the jewel being always immaculate, Seffy presented it as a diamond and had risen perceptibly in the opinion of the vicinage.

"And—and—Seff—Seffy, what you goin' to do?"

"Do?"

Seffy had been absorbed in what he was going to wear.

"Yes—yes—that's the most important." He encircled Seffy's waist and gently squeezed it. "Oh, of course! Hah? But what yit?"

I regret to say that Seffy did not understand.

"Seffy," he said impressively, "you haf' to me what you goin' to wear. It ain't much. The weather's yit poety col' nights. But I ken stand it if you ken—God knows about Sally! Now, what you goin' to do—that's the conundrum I ast you!"

Still it was not clear to Seffy.

"Why—what I'm a-going to do, hah? Why—whatever occurs."

"Gosh-a-mighty! And nefer say a word or do a sing to help the occurrences along? Geshens! What a set-ting-up! Why—say—Seffy, what you set up for?"

Seffy did not exactly know. He had never hoped to practise the thing—in that sublimely militant phase.

"What do you think?"

"Well, Seff—piew straight to her heart. I wist I had your chance. I'd show you a other-guess kind a set-ting-up—yassir! Make your mouth warter and your head swim, heghoshens! Why, that Sally's just like a young stubble-field; goth to be worked constant, and plowed deep, and manured heavy, and mebbly drained wiss blind ditches, and crops changed constant, and key a-ging thataway—constant—constant—so's the woods can't git in her. Then you ken put her in wheat after a while and git your money back."

This drastic metaphor had its effect. Seffy began to understand. He said so.

"Now look here, Seffy," his father went on more softly, "when you git to this—and this—and this,—he went through his pantoimime again, and it included a progressive caressing to the kissing point—"well, chust when you bese comfortable—hah?—mebbly on one cheer, what I know—it's so long sence I done it myself—when you bese comfortable, ast her—chust nest her—aham!—what she'll take for the pasture-field! She owns you bese and she can't use bese you and the pasture. A bird in the hand is worth a sateral in another feller's—not so?"

But Seffy only stopped and stared at his father. This, again, he did not understand.

"You know well enough I got no money to buy no pasture-field," said he.

"Gosh-a-mighty!" said the old man joyfully, making as if he would strike Seffy with his huge fist—a thing he often did. "And nia't got nossing to trade?"

"Nothing except the mare!" said the boy.

"Say—ain't you got no feelings, you idjit?"

"Oh—" said Seffy. And then: "But what's feelings got to do with cow-pasture?"

"Oach! No wonder he wants to be an anchel, and wiss the nacheis stand—holding sings in his hands and on his head! He's too good for this wile world. He'd linger shivering on the brink and fear to launch away all his durn life—if some one didn't push him in. So here goes!"

This was spoken to the skies, apparently, but now he turned to his son again.

"Look a-yere, you young dummer-ux, feelings is the same to gals like Sally, as money is to you, and me. You ken buy potatoes wiss 'em. Do you understand?"

Seffy said that he did, now.

"Well, then, I'to tried to buy that pasture-field a sousand times—"

Seffy started.

"Yes, that's a little hit a lue—mebbly a dozen times. And at last Sally's daddy said he'd lick me if I effer said pasture-field ag'in, and I said it ag'in and he licked me! He was a big man—and red-headed yit, like Sally. Now, look a-yere—you ken git that pasture-field wissout money and wissout price except you 'dam' feelings which ain't no other use. Sally won't lick you—if she is bigger—don't be a-skered. You got tons of feelin's you ain't got no other use for—don't waste 'em—they're good green money, and we'll git o'fen wiss Sally's daddy for licking me yit—and somesing on the side! Huh?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Simple Enough.

"Why does the farm boy beat the city boy so often?"

"That's easy."

"Let's have the answer."

PLEASURE LAUNCH BLOWS UP

FOUR MEN KILLED IN SAD ACCIDENT OFF MARION, MASS.

Two Others Picked Up After Being in Water Twelve Hours—Victims Were Prominent.

Marion, Mass.—Four prominent summer residents of this town and Falmouth met death through an explosion on board a 45-foot launch off here Saturday night. Two survivors were picked up Sunday after having been in the water for 12 hours.

The dead: Roland Worthington, Boston; John T. Trull, Weymouth; Joseph S. Beal, Milton; and George Savory, Marblehead, captain of the launch.

The saved: A. P. Torbell, Marblehead, and Edward Pecker, Boston.

Pecker, who was clinging to an oar, and Torbell, who was supported by a life preserver, were able to swim, and they remained together until picked up by a lobster fisherman going out in the early morning to haul his pots.

Mr. Torbell, who owned the Dolphin, as the launch was called, said the boat started out from Marion on a short pleasure cruise and was well out in the middle of Buzzards bay when the explosion occurred. Savory, the engineer, was suddenly blown into the air and was probably dead when he struck the water. The boat caught fire immediately and Torbell called to his comrades to leap overboard. He strapped a life preserver about himself before he leaped, and Mr. Pecker, who is connected with the Boston banking firm of Rollins & Sons, seized an oar and followed. So far as they know, none of the others in the party jumped. Either they could not swim and preferred to cling to the disabled launch until help came, or else they were stunned by the explosion.

Mr. Worthington was a large owner of real estate in the Boston financial district, but had retired from active business. He was 49 years old. Mr. Trull, who was 66 years old, was well known in Boston mercantile circles and had a business place there. He lived in Weymouth. Mr. Beal was connected with the office of the Osceola Consolidated Mining company of Boston.

AMERICAN MINISTER FIRED ON.

Mr. O'Brien Narrowly Escapes Death in Paraguayan Revolution.

La Paz, Bolivia.—Further details received here of the revolution in Paraguay state that while fighting was going on in Asuncion on incident occurred which might have had a most serious result. The American minister, Edward C. O'Brien, desirous of preferring his good offices in order to prevent further loss of life, while approaching the headquarters of the revolutionists was fired upon through lines by government troops. According to the dispatches the minister's escape was miraculous, as many persons were killed in the vicinity. Discovering their error, the troops ceased firing and an officer hastened to give explanations to the minister, who is convinced that the act was not premeditated.

BOSTON DOCKS FIRE SWEEP.

Property Loss Is $1,500,000 and One Person Is Missing.

Boston.—A fire, believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion or a locomotive spark, and fanned by a brisk northwest wind, swept nearly a quarter of a mile of the harbor front of East Boston late Wednesday, causing a property loss estimated at nearly $1,500,000. Much of the loss falls upon the Boston & Albany railroad.

Daniel Sullivan, a watchman, was reported missing and it is thought he perished in the flames.

New York.—A loss estimated at nearly $200,000 was suffered Wednesday at College Point, L. I., by a fire which destroyed Zehden's hotel and casino, Dondora's casino and a number of small adjoining buildings.

Engine Blows Up; Two Killed.

Columbus, O.—William Wettermann, engineer, and H. H. Baus, fireman, both of Columbus, were killed early Sunday by the explosion of the boiler of a Hocking Valley freight locomotive at Powell station, 16 miles north of Columbus. The locomotive had just helped a freight train up the steep grade at Powell and was standing at the station awaiting to be uncoupled when the accident occurred. The boiler was hurled 60 feet. The bodies of both of the men were horribly mangled and scalded.

Uprising of Navajos.

Bisbee, Ariz.—An uprising of Navajos in New Mexico is reported to have occurred and 30 soldiers with machine guns have been dispatched from Fort Huachuca to Fort Wingate, N. M., for the purpose of aiding the troops stationed there in quelling the outbreak.

Educator Falls Dead.

Macomb, Ill.—Maxwell Kennedy, principal of the Macomb business college and English training school, dropped dead Sunday in the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy station at Vermont, while waiting for a train.

Students Received by Pope.

Rome.—The pope Sunday received in private audience the students of the American college headed by the rector, Mr. Kennedy, for the presentation of their felicitations on the occasion of the annual jubilee.

HIS WAY OF PROPOSING.

He—They tell me you're great at guessing conundrums.

She—Well, rather good.

He—Here's one for you: If I were to ask you to marry me, what would you say?

TWO CURES OF ECZEMA

Baby Had Severe Attack—Grandfather Suffered Torments with It—Owe Recovery to Cuticura.

"In 1884 my grandson, a babe, had an attack of eczema, and after trying the doctors to the extent of heavy bills and an increase of the disease and suffering, I recommended Cuticura and in a few weeks the child was well. He is to-day a strong man and absolutely free from the disease. A few years ago I contracted eczema, and became an intense sufferer. A whole winter passed without once having on shoes, nearly from the knees to the toes being covered with virulent sores. I tried many doctors to no purpose. Then I procured the Cuticura Remedies and found immediate improvement and cure. M. W. LaRue, 845 Seventh St., Louisville, Ky., Apr. 23 and May 14, '07."

Couldn't Fool Him.

A custom house clerk, who, prior to his entry into Uncle Sam's service, was a schoolteacher "a good many years yet," as he proudly informs his associates, was standing on the corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets one cold day last winter, deeply engrossed in studying a legend which appeared on a dairy man's wagon, as follows: "Pasteurized milk," etc.

His face wore a puzzled expression, but finally betraying evidence of dawning intelligence he remarked to a bystander:

"Ain't these here Philadelphia milk-men gettin' to be just as deceitful as anything! Pasteurized milk, eh? But they can't fool me, 'cause I lived in the country, and know you can't pasture cows in winter!"

Telepathic Thirst.

News travels so fast nowadays as to render one almost speechless with wonder at the achievements of the wireless telegraph and telephone, says the Palmyra (N. Y.) Journal. One night last week we won a case of whisky at the Elks' fair in Lyons, and the night we brought it home there were three church members, a town official and two members of the band on hand to meet us on getting off the car. Since our arrival many people whom we have hitherto believed respectable have gone out of their respective ways to speak kindly to us.

A Man's Tact.

Nobody but Mr. Henley would have asked such a question in the first place.

"Miss Fairley," he said, "if you could make yourself over what kind of hair and eyes would you have?"

"If I could make myself over," said Miss Fairley, "I would look just exactly as I do now."

"You would?" exclaimed Henley in honest surprise, and to this day he can't understand why Miss Fairley thinks him a man of little taste and less tact.

DIFFERENT NOW

Athlete Finds Better Training Food.

It was formerly the belief that to become strong, athletes must eat plenty of meat.

This is all out of date now, and many trainers feed athletes on the well-known food, Grape-Nuts, made of wheat and barley, and cut the meat down to a small portion once a day.

"Three years ago," writes a Michigan man, "having become interested in athletics, I found I would have to elop eating pastry and some other kinds of food."

"I got some Grape-Nuts, and was soon eating the food at every meal. I found that when I went on the track, I felt more lively and active."

"Later, I began also to drink Postum in place of coffee, and the way I gained muscle and strength on this diet was certainly great. On the day of a field meet in June I weighed 124 lbs. On the opening of the football season in Sept., I weighed 140. I attribute my fine condition and good work to the discontinuation of improper food and coffee, and the using of Grape-Nuts and Postum, my principal diet during training season being Grape-Nuts."

"Before I used Grape-Nuts I never felt right in the morning—always kind of 'out of sorts' with my stomach. But now when I rise I feel good, and after a breakfast largely of Grape-Nuts with cream, and a cup of Postum, I feel like a new man." "There's a Reason."

PROOF FOR TWO CENTS.

If You Suffer with Your Kidneys and Back, Write to This Man.

G. W. Winney, Medina, N. Y., invites kidney sufferers to write to him. To all who enclose postage he will reply, telling how Doan's Kidney Pills cured him after he had doctored and had been in two different hospitals for eighteen months, suffering intense pain in the back, lameness, twinges when stooping or lifting, languor, dizzy spells and rheumatism. "Before I used Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mr. Winney, "I weighed 143. After taking 10 or 13 boxes I weighed 162 and was completely cured."

A Sure Remedy.

A young man who experienced much trouble in managing a head of hair which manifested an unpleasant inclination to stand on end, wrote to a weekly paper for a plan by which his troubles would be at least lessened.

He was given the following recipe: "One part molasses, three parts beeswax, four parts India rubber, four parts glue, 12 raw eggs; boil on a slow fire for two hours and 15 minutes, and while cooling stir in enough cod liver oil to make the mixture slab and good. Apply hot, and while gradually cooling pass a lawn mower back and forth over the head."

He didn't take it.

Looking for Work.

"Why don't you go to work instead of begging and boozing?"

"I will, boss, as soon as there's an openin' in my trade. An' I ain't got long to wait now, nuther."

"What is your trade?"

"I'm a trackwalker for aeroplane lines."

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Denver, Colo.—This following is a synopsis of the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention:

Preamble—We, the representatives of the Democracy of the United States in delegate convention assembled, reaffirm our faith in and pledge our loyalty to the principles of our party.

We rejoice at the increasing signs of awakening in the United States. The various investigations have traced graft and political corruption to the representatives of predatory wealth and laid bare the unscrupulous methods by which they have debauched elections and preyed upon a defenseless public through the subservient officials whom they have raised to place and power.

The conscience of the nation is now aroused and will, if honestly appealed to, free the government from the grip of those who have made it a business asset of the favor-seeking corporation. It must become again "a government of the people, by the people and for the people," and be administered in its departments according to the Jeffersonian maxim: "Equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

This is the overshadowing issue at this time; it manifests itself in all the questions now under discussion and demands immediate consideration.

Publicity for Funds—We heartily approve of the laws prohibiting the pass and the rebate and insist upon further legislation, state and national, making it unlawful for any corporation to contribute to campaign funds and providing for publication before the election of all the individual contributions above a reasonable minimum.

State's Rights—Believing with Jefferson in "the support of the state governments in all their rights as the most competent administrations for our domestic concerns and the surest bulwark against anti-republican tendencies," and in "the preservation of the general government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad," we are opposed to the centralization implied in the suggestions, now frequently made, that the powers of general government should be extended by judicial construction.

Senators by Direct Vote—We favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people and regard this reform as the gateway to all other national reforms.

Trusts and Monopolies—A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable; we therefore favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against trusts and trust magnates, and demand the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to make it impossible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States. Among the additional remedies we specify three: First, a law preventing the duplication of directors among competing corporations; second, a license system which will, without abridging the right of each state to create corporations, or its right to regulate as it will foreign corporations doing business within its limits, make it necessary for a manufacturing or trading corporation engaged in interstate commerce to take out a federal license before it shall be permitted to control as much as 25 per cent. of the product in which it deals, the license to protect the public from watered stock and to prohibit the control by such corporation of more than 50 per cent. of the total of any product consumed in the United States; and third, a law compelling such licensed corporations to sell to all purchasers, in all parts of the country, on the same terms after making due allowance for cost of transportation.

Tariff Revision—We welcome the belated promise of tariff reform, now offered by a part of the Republican party, as a tardy recognition of the righteousness of the Democratic position on this question, but the people cannot safely trust the execution of this important work to a party which is so obligated to the highly protected interests that it postpones relief until after the election. And we call attention to the significant fact that the promise now made by those Republicans who favor tariff revision is wholly vitiated by the use of the very qualifying words under which the present tariff inequities have grown up. We favor an immediate revision of the tariff by the reduction of import duties. Articles entering into competition with articles controlled by trusts should be placed upon the free list; material reductions should be made in the tariff upon the necessities of life, and reductions should be made in such other schedules as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis.

Income and Inheritance Tax—We favor an income tax as part of our revenue system, and we urge the submission of a constitutional amendment specifically authorizing congress to levy and collect a tax upon individual and corporate incomes, to the end that wealth may bear its proportionate share of the burdens of the federal government. We favor a national inheritance tax to reach the "swollen fortunes" already in existence, but we believe that it is better to permanently prevent "swollen fortunes" by abolishing privileges and favoritism upon which they are based.

Railroad Regulation—We assert the right of congress to exercise complete control over interstate commerce, and we assert the right of each state to exercise just as complete control over commerce within its borders. We demand such an enlargement of the powers of national and state railway commissions as may be necessary to give full protection to persons and places from discrimination and extortion. We believe that both the nation and the various states should, first, ascertain the present value of railroads measured by the cost of reproduction; second, prohibit the issue of any more watered stock on fictitious capitalization; third, prohibit the railroads from engaging in any business which brings them into competition with their shippers; and, fourth, reduce transportation rates until they reach a point where they will yield only a reasonable return on the present value of the roads, such reasonable return being defined as return sufficient to keep the stock of the roads at par when such roads are honestly capitalized.

Postal Savings Banks—We favor the postal savings bank, and, in addition thereto, insist upon the passage of laws, state and national, for the better regulation of banks and for the protection of bank deposits. The government demands security when it deposits public money in a bank, and we believe that the securing of the individual depositor who intrusts his earnings to a bank should be as perfect as the government security.

Currency—We believe that, in so far as the needs of commerce require an emergency currency, such currency should be issued and controlled by the federal government, and that it should be loaned upon adequate security and at a rate of interest which will compel its retirement when the emergency is past. We demand, further, that favoritism in the deposit of treasury funds shall be abolished and that surplus revenues shall be deposited at competitive rates upon sufficient security and fairly distributed throughout the country.

Labor and Arbitration—We favor the eight-hour day. We believe in the conciliation of capital and labor and favor every legitimate means for the adjustment of disputes between corporate employers and their employees to the end that justice may be done to those who toil and that society may be relieved from the embarrassment occasioned by prolonged strikes and lockouts.

Injunctions—We favor such a modification of the law relating to injunctions as will, first, prevent the issuing of the writ in industrial disputes, except after notice to defendants; second, permit trial before a judge other than the one who issued the writ, and, third, allow a jury to be summoned in all cases where the alleged contempt is committed outside the presence of the court.

Employers' Liability—We favor an employers' liability law, applicable to both private and public employers.

Immigration—We favor full protection by both national and state governments within their respective spheres of all foreigners residing in the United States under treaty, but we are opposed to the admission of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be assimilated with our population or whose presence among us would raise a race issue and involve us in diplomatic controversies with oriental powers, and we demand a stricter enforcement of the immigration laws against any immigrant who advocates assassination as a means of reforming our government.

Irrigation and Forests—We sympathize with the efforts put forth for the reclamation of the arid lands of the west and urge the largest possible use of irrigation in the development of the country. We also favor the reclamation of swamp lands upon the same principle. We favor the preservation of the forests still remaining and the replanting of the denuded districts in all our mountain ranges, as well as the reforestation of the western plains.

Canal and Water Ways—We believe that the Panama canal will prove of great value to our country and favor its speedy completion. We urge liberal appropriations for the improvement and development of interior water ways, believing that such expenditures will return a large dividend in lessened cost of transportation.

Pensions—We favor a generous pension policy, both as a matter of justice to the surviving veterans and their dependents and because it relieves the country of the necessity of maintaining a large standing army.

Philippines—We condemn the experiment in imperialism as an inexcusable blunder which has involved us in an enormous expense, brought us weakness instead of strength and laid our nation open to the charge of abandoning the fundamental doctrine of self-government. We favor an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose to recognize the independence of the Philippines as soon as a stable government can be established, such independence to be guaranteed by us as we guarantee the independence of Cuba until the neutralization of the islands can be secured by treaty with other powers. In recognizing the independence of the Philippines our government could retain such land as may be necessary for coaling stations and naval bases.

Foreign Policy—Desiring the prevention of war, wherever possible, we believe that our nation should announce its determination not to use our navy for the collection of private debts and its willingness to enter into agreements with other nations providing for the investigation by an impartial international tribunal, before any declaration of war or commencement of hostilities of every dispute which defies diplomatic settlement.

IN THE SADDLE AGAIN.

SEÑOR VELOZ IS RECALLED.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH VENEZUELA SEVERED.

No Danger of War with South American Republic—Washington Officials Regret Departure.

Washington.—The diplomatic relations between America and Venezuela that have existed uninterruptedly for more than half a century, though in recent years severely strained, were completely severed Thursday.

At half-past three o'clock in the afternoon Señor Veloz-Gaitano, the Venezuelan charge d'affaires, called at the state department by appointment to present to Acting Secretary Bacon notice from his government that he was to quit his post here, closing up the Venezuelan legation in Washington, and repair forthwith to Venezuela.

Taking leave of Acting Secretary Bacon and accepting the suggestion that he communicate in writing to Secretary Root the direction of his government in this matter, Señor Veloz paid hasty calls upon Assistant Secretaries Aden and Huntington Wilson and other officials of the state department who he has long and intimately known. Of course, officially, there was nothing for these gentlemen to say beyond mere formalities when made acquainted with the fact that the Venezuelan charge had been withdrawn. But personally they did not hesitate to express their sincere regret, for Señor Veloz has come to be very highly regarded in the diplomatic circle. Indeed it may be stated positively and from actual knowledge of what he has done in the years which he has passed in Washington as a representative of Venezuela that his personality has gone far toward defusing the rupture.

As to the future, it is pointed out by officials who have followed closely the developments in the Venezuelan situation that there is not the slightest danger of war to the immediate future, or indeed at all. Rather will the situation resemble that following the rupture of diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela, for instance, where legations were closed on both sides and all official relations terminated, while trade between the two countries continued and Frenchmen came to Venezuela and rich Venezuelans made their annual pilgrimages to Paris as if nothing had occurred.

ARRESTED AS COUNTERFEITER.

Prominent Danville Attorney Nabbed by Secret Service Men.

Danville, Ill.—Charles E. Brown, 35 years of age, an attorney, prominent socially and professionally, was arrested here Friday afternoon by secret service agents Thomas B. Porter and D. W. Wilkie on the charge of counterfeiting and later held to await action by a United States grand jury in bonds of $5,000.

In a secret desk and in the cellar of Brown's home, where he was arrested in the presence of his wife and three-year-old child, the government agents found what they say is the most complete counterfeiting outfit they have ever seen. It was ready for the manufacture of five-dollar gold pieces, silver half-dollars, quarters, dimes and nickels.

Hitchcock Is Made Chief.

Hol Springs, Va.—Frank H. Hitchcock of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee and manager of the national campaign, George R. Sheldon of New York, treasurer of the national committee, and Arthur I. Vorys of Ohio, member of the national committee in charge of the Ohio Republican headquarters, which are to be in Cincinnati. This was the result of the meeting of the executive committee of the Republican national committee here Wednesday.

Mayor Sues on Libel Charge. Philadelphia.—Mayor John E. Reyburn of this city instituted proceedings against E. A. Vynvalkounburg, editor and president of the North American and six members of the staff of the newspaper, charging them with criminal libel.

Fire Destroys Business District. Adrian, Mich.—Fire Saturday wiped out the business portion of the village of Riga, 13 miles southeast from here, causing a loss estimated at $30,000. Riga has about 200 population.

THOMAS J. BRYCE FALLS DEAD.

President of Columbus Club Expires at His Ball Park.

Columbus, O.—Thomas J. Bryce, known to sportsmen the country over as president of the Columbus American Association baseball club, died suddenly Sunday afternoon in a seat of the grandstand at Neil park where he had gone along with thousands of people expecting to witness the last game of the scheduled series between the Columbus and Toledo clubs. Heart disease was the cause.

For the last three years Mr. Bryce had been in poor health and several times his life had been despaired of. For the past week his condition was improved and he found himself able to attend to such business matters as required his personal attention.

For 15 years Mr. Bryce had been engaged in mercantile business here. Six years ago he undertook the work of popularizing baseball in Columbus and the success scored was a signal one. He is survived by a widow and two sons.

The baseball game was postponed in respect to the memory of Mr. Bryce.

DEMOCRATS ANGER JAPANESE.

Plank for Exclusion of Asiatic Laborers Causes Displeasure.

Tokyo.—The news of the action of the Democratic national convention at Denver, including in its platform a plank favoring the exclusion from the United States of Asiatic laborers is taken here to be directed against Japanese and is causing considerable surprise and displeasure. In some quarters indignation is expressed and the declaration is made that such a course is an infringement on the treaty rights of Japan and opposed to the principle of humanity that should govern the relations of nations.

OBALDIA WINS EASILY.

He Is Elected President of the Republic of Panama.

Panama.—The presidential elections throughout the isthmus of Panama passed off Sunday without disturbance. Señor Don Jose Domingo de Obaldia, formerly minister to the United States and acting president during the absence of Dr. Amador, was elected president.

The supporters of Ricardo Arias, who recently withdrew his candidacy, decided not to vote, and as a consequence, no opponent to Señor Obaldia was placed in nomination.

Bandit Shot and Caught.

St. Paul, Minn.—A report received at Great Northern railway headquarters here says that a lone masked highwayman attempted to hold up the west-bound fast mail train No. 3 one and one-half miles east of Naples, Idaho. Conductor Mathews of the train and the robber, whose name is Robert Roman, exchanged a fusillade of shots. The conductor was the better marksman and shot the robber through the lungs, breaking one rib. The officers and train crew tracked him to Naples and captured him.

Goulds May Be Recalled.

New York.—Reports that Frank J. Gould and his wife have become recalled were circulated Wednesday following the striking from the court calendar of an action entitled "Gould versus Gould."

Three Detroit Boys Drown.

Detroit, Mich.—One man died from heat prostration here Sunday and three boys, seeking relief from the torrid temperature, were drowned while bathing.

Watson Is Notified.

Atlanta, Ga.—Thomas E. Watson was formally notified of his nomination for president by the Populists of the United States at a mass meeting Thursday night.

Big Fire in Sault Ste. Marie.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Fire, following an explosion, the cause of which is unknown, Sunday afternoon destroyed Blumrosen's department store, gutted Miller's block and damaged several near-by buildings. The total loss is about $100,000.

Honduran Rebels In Retreat.

Managua, Nicaragua.—Advices received here state that the Honduran revolutionists have abandoned the town of Gracías, which they captured and have fled into Salvador.

OPENED BY THE KING

OLYMPIC GAMES AT LONDON ARE MARRED BY RAIN.

AMERICAN ATHLETES WIN

Two in Final of the 1,500-Meter Race—Remarkable Time Made by Hallows of Oxford.

London.—Rain interfered badly Monday with the opening of the fourth international Olympic games by the king at the stadium at Shepherd's Bush, and although it cleared off before the hour set for the formal ceremony, the attendance fell short of expectations.

The seating capacity of the stadium is upwards of 70,000, and while the covered stands contained sections which were well filled, there were many vacant spaces. In fact, if it had not been for the American and colonial contingents, which were there to cheer their respective countrymen, and the sections around the royal box, which were occupied by society, it would have been a very small affair so far as attendance was concerned.

In some of the events, too, the contestants appeared affected by the adverse weather conditions, but in other events, particularly the 1,500-meter race, in which the greatest interest centered, the men were up to their form and twice during the afternoon the record for the distance was smashed.

Melvin W. Sheppard of the Irish-American Athletic club of New York was the first to accomplish the trick when, in the second heat, pressed hard by his team mate, J. P. Halstead of the New York Athletic club, he ran the distance in the splendid time of 4:05, just two-fifths of a second faster than that made by J. D. Lightbody of the University of Chicago at the Olympic games at St. Louis in 1904.

J. P. Sullivan of the Irish-American A. C. and Lightbody were first and second respectively in the first heat of the event.

The best performance of the day, however, was that of M. F. Hallows, an Oxford blue, who cut a full two seconds off the record, much to the surprise of everybody, as Hallows always has been at his best at the three miles, and 1,500 meters was considered too short for him.

SHOT BY HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Dr. Simpson Wounded by Woman Whose Husband He Killed.

Northport, N. Y.—Standing within a few feet of the spot where, a little more than two years ago, he shot and killed his father-in-law, Dr. James Weddell Simpson, a dentist of New York, was shot and perhaps mortally wounded Monday by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bartley T. Horner, the woman he made a widow.

Dr. Simpson's wife, from whom he has been estranged for many months, was near when the shot was fired, but she did not witness the shooting. Upon learning that it was her husband who had been wounded, she refused to go near him and Dr. Simpson had to crawl to a house 200 feet away to have his wound attended to. Mrs. Horner was arrested later and held in $5,000 bail, while Dr. Simpson, with the assistance of two friends, made his way to Roosevelt hospital in New York.

GOMPERS' TO SUPPORT BRYAN.

Labor Leader, However, Doesn't Expect to Take the Stump.

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor (and inferentially the head of 3,000,000 voters of organized labor affiliated with the federation) will support William J. Bryan in the coming presidential campaign.

In political circles here Monday this announcement overshadowed all others, even the arrival of John W. Kern, the vice-presidential nominee. Mr. Gompers' support was promised to the ticket, but he specifically denied any present intention of taking the stump in the coming campaign.

French Consul at St. Paul Dies.

St. Paul, Minn.—Prof. Francois C. Boncher, for the last 26 years French consul at St. Paul, died Monday at St. Joseph's hospital. He was 80 years old. About six months ago Prof. Boncher was seriously injured in attempting to avoid an automobile.

Killed by His Reputed Wife.

Billings, Mont.—Timothy Reardon was shot and instantly killed Monday by Florence Reardon, who professes to be his wife. She recently instituted a suit in the district court to have an alleged marriage contract with him validated.

Kills Sister and Himself.

St. Paul, Minn.—A special from Minot, N. D., says that John Bruhn, a farmer living near Doneybrook, went insane, killed his sister, Miss Rose Bruhn, and then committed suicide.

Indicted for Conspiracy.

Philadelphia.—True bills charging conspiracy in making, printing and circulating false financial statements of the Standard Title & Trust company of this city, were returned by the grand jury here Monday against Homer L. Castle of Pittsburgh, a former prohibition candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, and these associates in the trust company: Charles Hunter, Philadelphia; D. C. Massington, Collingswood, N. J.; Arthur F. Williams, Chicago, and H. F. Asplawall, Freeport, Ill.

Lucky Future Generation
There is a saying of Carlyle the greatest hope of our world is the certainty of heroes being born. That is, indeed, a glorious tautology, but the reference might be enlarged. Birth itself, we venture to say, not of heroes only, but of the generations in their succession, is the infinitely hopeful thing. It is the guaranteed that the world will never grow old; that it will never stand still; that no halt is to be called in its eternal progress.—Christian World.

Realistic
The conversation turned on the effect produced on the emotions by pictorial art, when one gentleman remarked:

"I remember one picture that brought tears to my eyes."
"A pathetic subject, I presume?"
"No, sir; it was a fruit painting. I was sitting close under it when it dropped on my head."

SICK HEADACHE

EVERYBODY

wants to place their money where it will bring the most profit. The safest, surest and best paying investment is made by getting in on the organization of a sound business enterprise. We have just organized to manufacture the new product called "Wood-Feather." The demand exceeds the production and is increasing. It is the only factory of its kind in the country and is expected to be in full operation by the last of August. The profits are large, and it is conservatively estimated that the company will pay annual dividends of at least fifty per cent. to those who purchase the organization stock. We now offer at twenty-five cents per share, and soon as sufficient working capital is raised, the stock will be withdrawn from sale. Subscriptions will be in the order they are received. This strictly business enterprise will bring the most profitable investment. Further information will be fully furnished upon application to those who desire to invest. Remember that this is the only stock and prompt application must be made to secure it. The Kaw-Wood-Feather Co., Inc.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deadly. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

WITH THE DEMOCRACY AT DENVER CONVENTION

Enthusiastic Scenes Mark the Sessions of the Gathering.

A Hilarious, Howling Mob of Delegates and Visitors from Week End to Week End—The Interesting Incidents and Sidelights That Were Gathered During the Big Meeting.

Denver.—The Democratic convention at this place will go down in history as one of the most widely exciting political gatherings held for practically half a century. From the time the first delegates began arriving in the city to the time when Chairman Clayton's gavel rapped out the sine die adjournment, and even throughout all of Friday night and Friday morning while every train leaving the city was being jammed with the convention crowds homeward bound, there was one continuous round of action and enthusiasm.

From the first there seemed to be no doubt on the part of any one as to the presidential nominee. It was a Bryan gathering through and through. Gov. Johnson's followers were true blue, though, and gave many an evidence of strong tug power, especially so when his name was placed before the convention as Minnesota's favorite son. It seemed for a time as though the entire state had been turned loose in the big hall, so great was the cheering. The same was true when Judge Gray's name was placed before the convention, but both of these demonstrations paled beside the one big show when Attorney Dunn named the man from Lincoln. Old stagers at the political game told me they had turned back the pages of memory for many a year and could discover nothing that equaled the scene then enacted.

Enthusiasm marked the naming of Kern as the running mate, wild, hilarious enthusiasm. Up to that last session of the convention the vice-presidential nomination was all a matter of pure guesswork. When at one o'clock on Friday, Chairman Clayton called the gathering to order no one could safely prophesy who would be named for second place. But it took only the first mention of the name of Kern to show which way the Democratic wind was blowing, and then as one after another of the men suggested for the place withdrew it was all over, but the shouting, and that will continue to ring in Denver's ears for many a long day.

Such was the convention so far as the nominations were concerned. As to the platform, it is a thing made behind closed doors, and is of interest only as it affects the ultimate result of the campaign, but the real interest, the thing that draws the crowd, the thing that makes a convention memorable in the minds of the individuals who attend, and the things they talk about in the years to come, are the little stories and side lights, and it is these things that I have been commissioned to write.

Clayton Nearly Lost Flowers.
Permanent Chairman Henry D. Clayton came near not getting any roses when he took his seat on the speaker's platform on the day the permanent organization was effected.

It appears there are a dozen or fifteen former residents of Alabama in Denver and the day before they had expended $50 on a great bunch of American beauty roses as a token of their friendship and regard for the distinguished southerner.

They took the flowers down to the auditorium, but Congressman Clayton wasn't made permanent chairman that day. In the wild cheering that followed the mention of Mr. Bryan's name the Alabama man to whom the roses had been intrusted pulled them to pieces in his excitement, and the ribbon, which had cost $5, resembled a dish rag when it came down to earth.

But the sons of Alabama were on hand at the opening of the convention on the third day with another bunch of American beauties and at the proper time gave them to Congressman Clayton.

How Sulzer Missed Big Fortune.
Congressman William Sulzer of New York, who attended the Democratic convention, might have been a multimillionaire had he been a little bit more observing one time when he was 21 years old. It was in the summer of 1884; Congressman Sulzer had just graduated from the law department of Columbia. He heard that a United States army expedition was to do some exploring in Alaska and he secured permission to accompany the soldiers. Under the command of Lieut. Schwatka the expedition explored and made maps all the way from what is now St. Michaels up the Yukon to a point 35 miles above the present site of Dawson. For some time the party camped at Dawson's present site. They weren't thinking of gold and therefore didn't find any.

"Had I only known what was lying around loose up there," said Congressman Sulzer, "I might have made myself fabulously wealthy. In after years some of the richest placer gold deposits in the world were found within a stone's throw of the place where we camped. Yes, sir, I might now be playing golf with John D. Rockefeller."

How Campau Reeled His Legs.
Denver's altitude, and likewise its "attitude," were hard on the delegate's legs. Seats in the hotel lobbies were at a premium, and there were usually long waiting lists on every seat, each prospective occupant keeping an eagle eye on the corners with a view to inserting his legs into them as soon as the occupant moved an inch. D. J. Campau of Michigan hit upon a scheme that brought him a seat every time he tried it. He would walk up to an onlooker, who would be flattered by the attention, and inquire: "Who is that up there in the balcony?" The party addressed generally jumped to his feet, stepped out a yard or so, and squared off for a look, when Campau would comely drop into the chair, having lost all interest in his inquiry. The bystanders laughed so loudly at the trick that the loser had to give up gracefully.

Col. J. Ham. Dodged Speech Calls.
Col. James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago is a wise colonel. The convention had a habit, during moments when there was nothing else to do, of calling upon different notables to speak. That honor was accorded Lewis during the wait for the platform committee's report. At the same time there were cries for other men to speak. That was the colonel's tip. He didn't want to go on the platform to speak and get libelized—not libelized by the ladies, far be it from this—but libelized in a different way—the way the crowd handled Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson of Merrimac fame and the much-kissed seaman when he tried to tell them of the war with Japan. They hooted and hissed, but Hobson displayed a sample of that same nerve that served him at Santiago and flashed his speech. Nothing like that for J. Ham.

Bell and His Wileary.
Congressman Theodore Bell of California was the early bird booked for temporary chairman of the convention. He sailed in from Lincoln on a handcar and the swishing wings of the Fratern Order of Eagles, and brought several casks of the unforgotten grape juice of the California

Eagle Bell Brought His Drinks With Him.

grape with him. He said he had heard this altitude is so high that the foam wouldn't rise on beer and he didn't want any of his friends to suffer. "And besides," said Bell, "this is the juice that invigorates, stimulates and percolates but never inebriates—have another."

Indian Chief. Attends Convention.
Moly Tiger, a full blood Indian from Oklahoma, chief of the Creek nation, which has 17,000 people, was one of the curiosities at the convention. He is 65 years old, worth $100,000, and was the first time the delegates from his state knew that he was a Democrat. "Tato" Brady of Tulsa, one of the political lights of Oklahoma, took him to the auditorium in a motor car. This was the first time the chief ever had attended a convention and he was viewed with considerable interest. He didn't make many comments upon it. "Ugh, heap talk. Much noise?" was about all he'd say in English.

Getting Money From Home.
There were loud cheers when Martin W. Littleton, in his brief speech before the convention, referred to the thrift and enterprise of Denver in its treatment of delegates. Denverites cheered the utterance as a compliment, but others cheered it as a melancholy tribute to the emptiness of their pocketbooks.

Denver paid $100,000 to get the convention, and while the municipality of Denver was generous to the point of prodigality, the subscribers to the $100,000 did not lose sight of the fact that they were entitled to a rich return on the investment, and they got it.

Some of the prices would strain the financial backbone of a Pittsburg millionaire. A man with a good husky appetite found that every day tore a big hole in his bank roll. The waiters of the hotels and large restaurants entered the get-rich-quick conspiracy. They managed to arrange it every time so that a quarter was the smallest coin in the change, and it naturally went as a tip.

Denver had a special committee to keep prices down and prevent exorbitant charges, but the dispensers of meals were evidently immune.

As a result the telegraph companies did a big business handling urgent messages, sent by delegates, alternates and visitors, to their homes begging for more money.

Free Smoke Won by Trick.
"Ain't it awful, awful, awful?" sadly asked Harry E. Insley, commissioner of supplies, of a group of politicians seated in the mayor's office before the convention met.

"I am a ruined man," he continued, as he opened a little black pocketbook. "See this list of 800 lieutenants—good workers, too—and only 150 tickets to go around. I wish I were lost in the woods somewhere."

This was the general trend of conversation when a stranger happened in and Col. John St. John Irby, the mayor's private secretary, began saying that the stranger was formally introduced all around. The gallant colonel purposely passed up Col. D. A. Barton, fire commissioner, until last, when he said:

"And this is Col. Barton, who holds the place of fire commissioner on the side—you know his main proposition is the cigar business."

"D— you, colonel, I suspected you were going to work your old trick," answered the official as he emptied every pocket to treat the crowd, and the stranger said, "That's a nice free smoke."

Thirty-Six Feet of Boys.
Former Gov. Francis and Augustus Thomas, the playwright, met in the Savoy hotel lobby, and addressed each other like two characters out of the comic supplement.

"Hello, Dave," said Mr. Thomas. "Why, hello, Gus," replied Mr. Francis.

"You're looking mighty fine, Dave," said Mr. Thomas. "I'm glad to see it at your age."

"Well, Gus, I ought to look fine," replied Mr. Francis. "I don't do a thing."

Mr. Thomas then asked about the Francis family and the former governor said: "Do you know, I've got 36 feet of Francis boys in my family? There are six boys and every one of them is six feet tall."

The "Kangaroo Court."
The "Kangaroo court" was one of the features of the convention. It is an organization established by "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma and held forth in the lobby of the Brown Palace hotel, with the backs of the seats in the rotunda for the bench of the honorable court. Everybody had to subscribe to Bryan and Bryan Democracy. The prisoners were rushed to the foot of the bench and were then interrogated by the court as to their fitness to be a delegate in the convention. Usually five judges shouted at the prisoner at one and the same time. Some of the hottest arguments held in the convention were pulled off by the "Kangaroo court." If the subject under consideration finally gave in he was at once promoted to a seat on the bench and permitted to cross-examine other recalcitrants. On the other hand, if he downed the court in the arguments the jury, which usually consisted of 200 or more struggling delegates, would rend the air with loud shouts for Bryan, Johnson or some other wholly innocent party.

New York and Minnesota delegates were the especial prey of the court, the sessions of which ran as long as two hours at a time.

Tom Taggart a Post.
No one would have suspected that Tom Taggart—big, openfaced, yet resolute Tom of Indiana—had a streak of sentiment in his makeup that would burst and bloom into a sunny sonnet, sweet, touching and rhythmical. But he has it—it is in him, and he can't help it. This is how I know:

When the big chairman of the big convention stepped off the train, direct from Indiana, and his eyes caught a glimpse of the snow-capped mountain peak that Zebulon Pike brought here from the Louisiana French grant and planted near the great Manitou, he—the big chairman from Indiana—opened wide his mouth and spoke:

"O mighty, towering mountain peak,
With crest of snowy white,
I would that I might win thy heart
And take thee home to-night;
Yes, to my Indiana home,
Where flows the Wabash still—
Where sweet and dust and heat are rife,
And fleas bite fit to kill.
I think I'd like to plunge into
Thy snowy crest and lie
In frigid raptures, 'till I heard:
'Come, Tom, it's time to die.'"

This "frigid raptures" is a now one out west, but to those who had occasion to watch the chairman in his strenuous efforts to be everywhere and see everybody at the same and one time, better realize what a "hot time" he had from the time of landing until the gavel dropped in convention hall.

In the Boxes.
The hundreds of women who attended the long session which ended in the nomination of William J. Bryan for the presidency plainly showed the effect of the prolonged strain and excitement.

All night hundreds of women watched the progress of the nominating speeches, the cheering and the balloting. Brilliant with gown and gem, covered with emotion, bright-eyed with excitement, they hysterically waved flags, veils, handkerchiefs, hats, standards and cushions, when Ignatius J. Dunn, the homely Omaha lawyer, brought before the convention the name of "our candidate."

Mrs. Dunn, herself a guest in the box of Mrs. Bird Coler, exchanged con-

Dunn, the homely Omaha lawyer, brought before the convention the name of "our candidate."

Mrs. Dunn, herself a guest in the box of Mrs. Bird Coler, exchanged constant glances with her husband. The moment he named "the peerless leader," she snatched her flag from her chair, leaped far over the box and furiously waved the banner, her face beaming with smiles and her eyes tearful from excitement.

Near by Ruth Bryn, Leavitt, her eyes filled with tears of emotion, laid one hand in that of her brother, William Bryn, Jr., and with the other tried weakly to keep her small dog waving, while the guests in her box, drifting into the mob spirit, were carried away by its enthusiasm.

Across the aisle of the section that came to be known as the convention "holly hollers," because of the social prominence and exclusiveness of its occupants, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, occupying the Roger Sullivan box, wearing a stunning dinner gown of white lace and some magnificent jewels, looked on rather disdainfully at what, according to her expression, must have been a "wild-eyed" proceeding, and chatted amiably with her guests, including Mrs. Medill McCormick, Miss Corliss Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth had as good a time as any Democrat at the convention. They attended the sessions and were deeply interested. All efforts to draw from either anything like a comparison between the Denver and Chicago convention was futile. They would not talk politics.

Couldn't Get In.
One of the most picturesque figures of the convention couldn't get into convention hall at the Tuesday morning session.

They call him "Old Kalinuck," and he came to Denver with the St. Joseph, Mo., marching club. He walked 600 miles behind a wheelbarrow once on an election bet.

He's an old man, nearly 80, with a gray beard reaching half-way down to his waist, wears a battered silk hat, and had on his convention clothes made entirely of burlap, cut after the fashion of the Uncle Sam caricatures. Some wag had written upon a card the directions to an entrance that did not exist. The marching club was absent. By the time the old man had found a friend the morning session had adjourned.

Nuggets.
"Mix me up a little whisky, absinthe and Worcestershire sauce," said the thrifty delegate to the bartender. In ordinary times this would have caused a riot, but the gentlemanly bartenders became used to strange concoctions.

The delegate smacked his lips and walked out.

"I wonder what that is good for," said the bartender.

"Mix me up a little whisky, absinthe and Worcestershire sauce," said the thrifty delegate to the bartender. In ordinary times this would have caused a riot, but the gentlemanly bartenders became used to strange concoctions.

The delegate smacked his lips and walked out.

"I wonder what that is good for," said the bartender.

Heat prostrates the nerves. In the summer one needs a tonic to offset the customary hot weather Nerve and Strength depression. You will feel better within 48 hours after beginning to take such a remedy as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Its prompt action in restoring the weakened nerves is surprising. Of course, you won't get entirely strong in a few days, but each day you can actually feel the improvement. That tired, lifeless, spiritless, feeling will quickly depart when using the Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will sharpen a failing appetite; it aids digestion; it will strengthen the weakened Kidneys and heart by simply rebuilding the worn-out nerves that these organs depend upon. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Food as Church Tithes. Bernaldo in his Calendar says that in medieval times there was more food than money given for church tithes.

There is one preparation known to-day that will promptly help the stomach. This is Kodol. Kodol digests all classes of food and it does it thoroughly, so that the use of Kodol for a time will without doubt help anyone who has stomach disorders or stomach trouble. Take Kodol today and continue it for the short time that is necessary to give you complete relief. Kodol is sold by J. H. Swan.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak. If the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month. Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently upon the bowels and thereby drives the cold out of the system and at the same time it allays inflammation and stops irritation. Sold by J. H. Swan.

ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE HEARS STEARNS SPEAK

Attorney A. K. Stearns of Waukegan, candidate for representative on the Republican ticket, addressed 300 people at Lake Villa Friday night in a sweltering heat of 94. The hall, held only 150 people comfortably but many crowded in and packed and jammed the place, while outside others heard the address, a notable one, through the open windows and doors.

Rarely if ever has a candidate received such a flattering reception, doubly so because this is the rural busy season and farmers find it hard to get away. In spite of this fact, all of Lake Villa, and all of the surrounding country, joined in an immense turnout.

Mr. Stearns talked on national, state and local topics. He is first, last and all the time for William H. Taft, the man educated to be a president, and the Roosevelt policies. In state affairs he spoke on the primary measure and assured his hearers he is for the state aid of good roads, a vital feature. The address, which lasted an hour and fifteen minutes, was heard with closest attention and an ovation was tendered the speaker. Mr. Stearns in ending spoke briefly of his own candidacy.

The presiding officer at the meeting was Mayor Bradley of Lake Villa, head of the Bradley school, and the meeting was held in Hamlin's hall.

Mr. Stearns is in the midst of a whirlwind speaking campaign and is everywhere being greeted with acclaim.

Bert Barber of Elton, Wis. says: "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done far more for me than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. Sold by J. H. Swan.

The Remedy That Does.

"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others promise but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. R. Pierson, of Auburn Centre, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieved only temporarily. Now Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at J. H. Swan drug store. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free.

ELECTRIC ROAD MANGEMENT CUTS SERVICE

Fifty business men on their way from Libertyville and out in Lake county to their offices in Chicago and Waukegan, voiced their opinion of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railroad Company management in strange, strong language Monday morning when they found that the car schedule had changed without notice.

Cars that made connections with Chicago trains possible have been removed entirely and in fact it almost appears that the road management has deliberately set out to kill off whatever convenience the west branch of the line is to the people.

The 8, 10, 12 and 2 o'clock cars have all been taken off beginning Monday morning and some time ago the 8 and 10 o'clock cars were taken off in the evening service. This leaves an insufficient number of cars a day over the west branch and complaining would be to put it mildly.

To add to the aggravation of the whole thing, the car crew for the Libertyville car is not transferred to do duty on the main line, but is simply stationed at the junction to sit in the car that never goes and look wise. In other words the crew has the biggest snap of any on the line and all it has to do is to stay at the junction. The people wish a change and can not imagine what the management is thinking of to take some of the steps that it has taken of late.
